I. The Global Partnership

The Global Partnership for Effective Development Co-operation was created in 2011 at the Fourth High-Level Forum on Aid Effectiveness in Busan, Korea. The Busan Partnership Agreement, which established the Global Partnership, was endorsed by 161 countries and 56 international organisations, and representatives of civil society, private sector, parliamentarians and local and regional entities.

Global Partnership stakeholders work in synergy to strengthen the effectiveness of development co-operation by putting into practice four principles: (i) ownership of development priorities by developing countries; (ii) focus on results; (iii) inclusive partnerships; and (iv) transparency and mutual accountability.

In Nairobi, Kenya in December 2016, at its Second High-Level Meeting (HLM2), the Global Partnership adopted a renewed mandate to build on the lessons learned and adjust to the evolving development co-operation landscape. In delivering its mandate, the Global Partnership will perform five core functions:

1. Supporting effectiveness at the country level
2. Generating evidence for accountability and SDG follow-up
3. Sharing knowledge and lessons
4. Facilitating specialised dialogue
5. Building political momentum for effective development co-operation

The Partnership will remain country-focused and promote mutual accountability, provide data and evidence on progress in meeting commitments on more effective development co-operation, and inform inclusive dialogue on effective development co-operation at all levels to unleash the potential of all development actors to achieve the SDGs by 2030.

The Global Partnership is led by three Co-Chairs and a Steering Committee. Global Partnership Co-Chairs are mandated to represent the Global Partnership externally and guide the Partnership's work. The Steering Committee is the main decision making body of the Global Partnership, representing all relevant actors with a stake in development wishing to engage in the work of the Global Partnership – governments, multilateral and bilateral institutions, civil society, academia, parliaments, local governments, regional platforms and organisations, trade unions, the business sector, and philanthropy. Independent evaluations of the work of the Global Partnership may also be conducted at determined times.

The Global Partnership is supported by a Joint Support Team (JST) sourced by the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) and United Nations Development Programme (UNDP). Both organisations will continue to draw on their existing structures, respective mandates and areas of comparative advantage to work together in an efficient and complementary manner.

II. Major achievements

Improved shared understanding of progress and bottlenecks and informed decision-making with evidence

The Partnership's monitoring reveals that development actors have made progress on results, inclusive partnerships, and transparency, but more needs to be done to unlock existing bottlenecks. The 2016 monitoring round drew record participation and diversity, 81 low and middle-income countries, 125 development partners, and hundreds of civil society organisations, private sector representatives, trade unions, foundations, parliamentarians and local governments engaged. The data and evidence generated covers up to 89% of these countries' programmed development co-operation finance.

In 2016, the Global Partnership monitoring framework has been recognised as a unique source of information for the follow-up and review of the 2030 and Addis Ababa Action Agendas. Data and evidence generated from the country-led process of the Partnership's monitoring now provides evidence to SDG targets on respecting countries' policy space and leadership (SDG 17.15), multi-stakeholder partnerships for development (SDG 17.16), and gender equality and women's empowerment (SDG 5c).

Translating effective development co-operation commitments into practice

Collective action through the Global Partnership has driven stakeholders to improve the way development co-operation is delivered. The Global Partnership has supported countries in adapting effectiveness principles in their country context through eight regional mutual learning events. These enabled government and non-state actors to discuss monitoring findings, share experiences and lessons, and develop common action plans. 81 monitoring profiles based on the country-led monitoring findings have provided detailed inputs to country-level implementation efforts. Global Partnership Initiatives have also generated valuable evidence and energised policy dialogue at all levels, translating global agreements into action.

Generated international political momentum and support for effective development co-operation

The Second High-Level Meeting in 2016 (HLM2), which convened over 4,600 participants from 157 countries, reinforced commitments to effective development co-operation. The Outcome Document strategically positioned the Global Partnership within the follow-up and review of the 2030 Agenda and articulates, for the first time, differentiated commitments that recognize the specific roles and contributions development stakeholders can make. HLM2 successfully concluded the renewal of the Global Partnership mandate and secured continued political leadership with successor Co-Chairs from Bangladesh, Germany and Uganda.

In 2015 and 2016, the Partnership hosted a vast array of meetings and consultations to energise policy debate on effective development co-operation among and within different communities, culminating in the Nairobi conference. Hosted by the Republic of Korea, the annual forums and learning and acceleration programmes enabled practitioners and policy makers to address bottlenecks and barriers at country level. All three co-chairs from the Netherlands, Mexico and Malawi hosted one Steering Committee meeting and others took place in New York, Seoul and Nairobi, sharpening the Partnership's vision in preparation for HLM2.

Significantly enhanced visibility of the Global Partnership and strengthened engagement among stakeholders

Concerted communications efforts have increased engagement by policy makers and practitioners in all regions. In 2016, usage and followers increased by 30% on effectivecooperation.org, 50% on Twitter and 900% on Facebook. Newsletter subscriptions surged to almost 7,000 subscribers. Public e-discussions and blogs engaged policymakers, practitioners and leaders including then USAID Administrator Rajiv Shah, then UK Secretary of State for International Development, Justine Greening, then Indonesian State Minister for National Development Planning Armida Alisjahbana and then Nigerian Finance Minister Ngozi Okonjo-Iweala.

III. Programme of work for 2017 and 2018: A new direction

The biennial programme of work defines targets and responsibilities for the implementation of the work of the Global Partnership in any two-year period. To achieve the ambition of the Partnership as outlined in the Nairobi Outcome Document, the Global Partnership needs to generate momentum in 2017 and 2018 to significantly enhance efforts by all stakeholders to achieve impact at country level; increase high-level political engagement and action across the Partnership; attract greater interest and participation from emerging economies and emerging development partners from the South, the private sector, foundations, Parliamentarians and local government; and secure sufficient funding from across the Global Partnership.

Based on evidence to date and issues emerging from the current development co-operation landscape, the programme of work is focused on six inter-related and mutually reinforcing strategic outputs for 2017-2018:

Enhanced support to effective development co-operation at country level: Supporting countries in mainstreaming effectiveness principles into development co-operation practices and strategically managing diverse development co-operation resources; as well as ensuring that country-level evidence on progress and challenges informs multi-stakeholder dialogue at national, regional and global levels to drive political decisions and promote behaviour change.

Unlocking the potential of effectiveness and updated monitoring for 2030: Positioning the Global Partnership as a recognised source of data, evidence and analysis by generating reliable and timely country-level data, boosting effectiveness and addressing the bottlenecks that hinder progress on the implementation of agreed effectiveness principles; as well as refining the monitoring framework to reflect the challenges of the 2030 Agenda, including the distinctive contribution of the increasingly diverse actors in development co-operation.

Sharing knowledge to scale-up innovative development solutions: Bringing together the learning, knowledge and technology available across constituencies to help scale development solutions at a faster pace, building on the progress demonstrated by various countries, development partners and non-state actors across the effectiveness principles; as well as strengthening the Partnership's mutual learning loop to become a "go-to" partnership for knowledge exchange, making fuller use of knowledge generated to promote mutual accountability and learning.

Scale up private sector engagement leveraged through development co-operation: Leveraging development co-operation to attract inclusive business investments that generate shared benefit for business strategies and development goals; as well as facilitating specialised dialogue to help development partners adapt their practices and instruments for engagement with the business sector and to ensure the transparency and accountability of these arrangements to effectively contribute to economic development and poverty reduction.

Learning from different modalities of development co-operation: Enhancing exchanges between constituencies engaged in North-South, South-South and Triangular co-operation, recognising their unique characteristics and respective merits, to draw smartly together the diversity of options available across stakeholders to scale up the impact of development co-operation to the level needed to attain the SDGs; as well as facilitating specialised dialogue to learn from different modalities of development co-operation with specific attention to southern partners and partnership options.

Strengthened high-level political engagement, advocacy, public communication and strategic use of data and evidence: Producing the behaviour change needed to make development co-operation more effective depends on political leadership that is informed by sound evidence and policy recommendations. The Global Partnership will generate political momentum through a combination of advocating for development effectiveness principles at the political level, strategic engagement in global processes, including in the follow-up and review of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, and strategic public communication of the Global Partnership's messages and insights.

Co-Chairs' responsibilities focus on outreach to ensure momentum at the highest political levels. Steering Committee members are expected to champion specific work streams in close consultation and collaboration with their constituencies. The JST is responsible for technical, secretariat and advisory activities necessary for the Co-

Chairs and Steering Committee to deliver the programme of work. The financial support necessary for the OECD and UNDP to jointly support the implementation of this work programme is indicated for each output.

Activities, lead responsibilities and timing

Strategic Output 1: Enhanced support to effective development co-operation at country level

The Global Partnership aims to drive global progress and support countries in strategically managing diverse development co-operation resources, steering effective practices to deliver on national development targets. The Global Partnership will therefore continue to provide strategic support for countries to establish and/or strengthen existing mechanisms and country level multi-stakeholder partnership platforms to advance the full realisation of the effectiveness principles and commitments at national level and promote regional exchanges of lessons learned. National mechanisms and platforms will be leveraged to engage all actors in ensuring that relevant country-level data and evidence on effective development co-operation is generated and discussed and informing national follow-up and review of the 2030 Agenda and the SDGs and the High-Level Political Forum and the Financing for Development Forum.

In 2017 and 2018, the Global Partnership will provide catalytic support to countries piloting establishment of systematic mechanisms and country-level multi-stakeholder partnership platforms for making the best use of the various forms of co-operation; establish a compendium of good practices related to the policies and institutional arrangements, and help mobilise GPIs to strengthen their focus on greater country level focus.

Strategic Output 2: Unlocking the potential of effectiveness and updated monitoring for 2030

The Global Partnership’s monitoring framework is a recognised vehicle for mutual accountability on the effectiveness of development co-operation. It tracks development stakeholders’ progress towards more effective development co-operation, namely how effectively developing countries’ governments put in place a conducive environment and system to maximise the impact of development co-operation; and how effectively international development partners deliver their support including on the unfinished business. The data and evidence reported by countries is used as a source of evidence by the UN Statistical Commission to monitor progress on SDGs 5 and 17.

In 2017-18 the Global Partnership will aim at enhancing the relevance of its monitoring evidence by: spearheading policy dialogue to unlock the potential of effectiveness commitments to boost progress; launching a refined monitoring framework to reflect the diversity of actors and forms of development co-operation; and producing the 2018 Monitoring Report, including the country monitoring profiles. The data and evidence generated will feed into the UN-led follow-up and review of the SDGs at the High-Level Political Forum on Sustainable Development.

Strategic Output 3: Sharing knowledge to scale-up innovative development solutions

The Global Partnership will intensify efforts to bring together the lessons learned from different practical approaches and experiences to strengthening the effectiveness of development co-operation available across constituencies. In 2017-2018, the Global Partnership will become a go-to platform for knowledge exchange and learning at all levels by drawing smartly together the diversity of concrete options available across stakeholders identified and generated from other strategic deliverables (i.e. country-level evidence, monitoring process, specialised dialogues among North-South and South-South cooperation and on public-private partnerships). In order to strengthen its online community of networks/practitioners, including Global Partnership Initiatives, regional and country platforms, the Global Partnership will establish a virtual knowledge sharing platform.

By providing a space for networks, working groups and initiatives, it can systematically collaborate on specific issues through online discussions and across work streams, share knowledge, and highlight milestones and events. This online community of networks will be nurtured through substantive online dialogue/discussions, informed from practical knowledge and lessons generated and shared through the knowledge sharing platform, complementing specialized dialogue and country-led efforts for advancing effective development co-operation principles.

Strategic Output 4: Scaling up private sector engagement through development co-operation

In 2017-2018, the Global Partnership will facilitate inclusive dialogue to help identify enablers and constraints to scale up private sector engagement leveraged through development co-operation, with a view to agreeing on principles for improving the effectiveness of such engagement. The Partnership will facilitate collaboration with businesses, including the set-up of a caucus of likeminded business and foundation representatives, to help development partners adapt their policies and instruments for more effective partnership with the business sector.

Through consultative multi-stakeholder dialogues, the Global Partnership will promote greater checks and balances for private sector engagement leveraged through development co-operation, helping all stakeholders monitor the transparency, development rationale and results of public-private engagement that delivers mutual benefit for business strategies and development goals. This will help reinforce the political momentum needed to fully leverage public and private resources for the attainment of the SDGs.

Strategic Output 6: Strengthened high-level political engagement, advocacy, public communication and strategic use of data and evidence

Producing the behaviour change needed to make development co-operation more effective depends on political leadership that is informed by sound evidence and policy recommendations. The Global Partnership will generate political momentum through a combination of advocating for development effectiveness principles at the political level, engaging strategically in global processes, including in the follow-up and review of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, and publically communicating the Global Partnership's messages, and insights strategically.

The Global Partnership will undertake political level outreach, including with emerging economies, through bilateral engagement, at major international events, and by facilitating a structured multi-stakeholder political dialogue. The Global Partnership's data and evidence for effective development co-operation make a distinct contribution to national, regional and global processes that can build political momentum for change in development cooperation practices. The Global Partnership will strategically inject its analysis to processes including the Financing for Development Forum, the High-Level Political Forum on Sustainable Development and the Development Co-operation Forum.

The Global Partnership communicates publically, including through the media, to generate political momentum. The Global Partnership will strategically intensify its public communications and share policy products in a targeted manner. The Global Partnership will do this in order to draw attention of influential actors to the actions needed for effective development co-operation. It will be especially important to intensify efforts to generate visibility, because in the aftermath of HLM2 the Global Partnership will need to work harder to attract media attention.

Joint Support Team resource requirements

The budget tables below indicate the resource requirements for the Joint Support Team to support implementation of the activities in the Programme of Work the Joint Support Team is responsible for. All other activities in the Programme of Work are not costed under these budget tables.

All five strategic outputs require technical, secretariat and advisory activities from OECD and UNDP above and beyond the activities where a JST lead responsibility is indicated. This underscores the importance of mobilizing the full resource requirements for the two organisations to allow for effective organisation, sequencing and delivery of JST work to deliver on the entirety of the programme of work.

IV. Events 2017-2018

Global Partnership events will be organised in cost effective ways, back-to-back with other events, where possible, to maximise benefits and impact on the global development agenda. The description below indicates the type of events the Global Partnership foresees. The illustration on the next page summarises the proposed events from the work programme. A calendar of events indicates other opportunities of relevance to the Global Partnership.

Specialized Policy Dialogues

Specialized policy dialogues help to identify practical solutions to accelerate progress on specific bottlenecks. They will be co-ordinated with GPIs, regional platforms and other efforts to engage actors with similar interests to build consensus and strengthen advocacy around priorities. They provide opportunities to unpack monitoring findings and link evidence to the formulation of development co-operation policies and instruments. The exchanges may take shape in different formats (in-person, virtual, with support from regional platforms etc.), mobilising relevant communities of policy makers, experts and practitioners, pooling their comparative advantages and identifying opportunities to work together to translate effectiveness commitments into action at country level.

Global and Thematic Development Dialogues

Data and evidence generated for the Global Partnership informs the global follow-up and review of the 2030 Agenda and the AAAA through the SDG monitoring and FfD Follow-up as well as the deliberations in the DCF. Global Partnership findings will also be injected in other relevant global and thematic events and networks. Inputs will be made in targeted ways, including through presentations, issue/policy briefs, briefing sessions or side events. It is envisaged to hold one Global Partnership High-Level Segment in the margins of a relevant meeting on development finance and co-operation or, alternatively, one Senior-Level Meeting at the Directors-General level. A third, stand-alone High-Level Meeting of the Global Partnership is envisaged for the 2019-2020 period.

Regional Mutual Learning Events

Workshops will be held to engage country-level development stakeholders. They will facilitate learning and disseminate information on the tools available at the country level to support implementation of the development effectiveness agenda and to monitor effectiveness commitments. In particular, workshops are planned around strengthening country systems, including national policy and institutional architecture for managing increasing diverse development co-operation flows. Additionally, workshops will be held with national coordinators of the Global Partnership monitoring process to maintain stakeholder engagement and provide guidance on the way forward.

Busan Global Partnership Forums and Learning and Acceleration Program

The Forum and Program can continue to provide opportunities for policy makers, experts and practitioners to discuss solutions and new approaches to address bottlenecks and challenges in implementing effectiveness commitments at country level. Informed by deliberations of specialised policy communities (GPIs, Specialised Policy Dialogues), they serve as technical exchanges for knowledge sharing and mutual learning among all relevant actors including from the private sector and Southern partners.

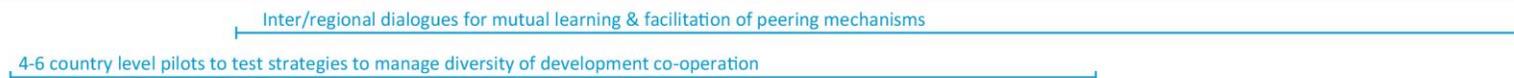

Bi-annual Steering Committee Meetings

Steering Committee meetings provide strategic guidance to realise the deliverables agreed in the Programme of Work. The first Steering Committee in 2017 (SCM13) will discuss and endorse the Programme of Work. Subsequent meetings will dedicate thematic discussion to priority topics in the Programme of Work, allowing for substantive, member-led review of progress and taking decisions on the way forward to ensure timely delivery of the agreed Programme of Work. A proposed thematic sequence could entail: end-2017 unlocking bottlenecks at country level and updated monitoring framework; early 2018 Learning from diverse approaches to development co-operation; end-2018 effective public-private partnerships leveraged through development co-operation.

Annex 2: Global Partnership Mandate endorsed in Nairobi

1. VISION. The vision of the Global Partnership is to maximise the effectiveness of all forms of co-operation for development for the shared benefit of people, planet, prosperity and peace.
2. MANDATE. The Global Partnership shall contribute to the achievement of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and regional strategies for sustainable development by promoting effective development co-operation geared towards ending all forms of poverty and reducing inequality, advancing sustainable development and ensuring that no-one is left behind. The Global Partnership shall promote mutual accountability to hold each other responsible for more effective development co-operation through (i) a country-focused approach that helps developing countries make the best use of development co-operation to realise their national development goals with support of regional platforms; (ii) generating data and evidence on development stakeholders' progress in meeting their commitments to more effective development co-operation; and (iii) inclusive dialogue amongst development stakeholders at local, country, regional and global levels. In delivering its mandate, the Global Partnership will promote modalities of development co-operation that contribute to the universal objective of leaving no-one behind.
3. CONSTITUENCY. The Global Partnership brings together, on an equal footing, key stakeholders of the development co-operation agenda from developing countries (countries receiving development co-operation, as well countries of dual character that both receive and provide development co-operation); developed countries (countries providing development co-operation); multilateral and bilateral institutions; civil society; academia; parliaments; local governments; regional platforms and organisations; trade unions; the business sector; and philanthropy. The partnership is founded on the recognition that sustainable results and impact of development co-operation depend on joint efforts and investments. The partners are united by their shared commitment to inclusive partnership founded on common principles and goals and building on the comparative advantage of each. Regional platforms and organisations provide input regarding region-specific issues and approaches.
4. FUNCTIONS. The Global Partnership has five core functions:
 - (a) Supporting effectiveness at the country level

5. The success of the Global Partnership hinges on its ability to drive global progress and support countries in strategically managing diverse development co-operation resources, steering effective practices to deliver on national development targets. To this end, the Global Partnership will strengthen its country-focused approach, supporting countries to advance the effectiveness principles at the national level. It will ensure that country-level evidence on progress in and challenges to effective development co-operation informs local, national, regional and global multi-stakeholder dialogue to drive political decisions and promote behaviour change to scale up development co-operation results. The work at country level will include support for mainstreaming effectiveness principles into development co-operation practices; support to multi-stakeholder dialogue platforms building on data; and use of data from Global Partnership monitoring in the United Nations High-Level Political Forum on Sustainable Development and Financing for Development review processes.
 - (b) Generating evidence for accountability and SDG follow-up

6. Moving forward, the Global Partnership shall be a recognised source of data, evidence and analysis to track progress on effectiveness commitments. In carrying out its renewed mandate, the Global Partnership shall draw upon its comparative advantages and focus on generating reliable and timely country-level data and evidence to inform decision making on effective development co-operation. To this end, the Global Partnership shall conduct biennial monitoring rounds on the effectiveness of development co-operation. The monitoring will continue to be country-led and supported by regional and global platforms, based on mutually-agreed and updated indicators to measure all relevant performance. It will promote mutual accountability by highlighting areas of progress and challenges requiring further work. Policy-relevant lessons and innovative solutions produced by Global Partnership Initiatives will complement monitoring findings. The data and evidence generated will feed into the UN-led follow-up and review of the SDGs at the High-Level Political Forum on Sustainable Development.

(c) Sharing knowledge and lessons

7. The Global Partnership provides a platform for knowledge exchange and learning on effective development co-operation. Across principles, goals and indicators there are countries, development partners and non-state actors that demonstrate the capacity to progress on agreed effectiveness principles and commitments. Global Partnership Initiatives and regional platforms are also producing lessons and generating evidence around specific commitments and innovative areas of effective development co-operation. This indicates great potential for identifying success factors, sharing lessons and making fuller use of knowledge generated through these efforts to promote mutual accountability and learning.

(d) Facilitating specialised dialogue

8. Policy dialogue is vital to link the evidence generated through monitoring to the formulation of development co-operation policies and instruments that serve country needs. The Global Partnership promotes action-oriented dialogue among relevant development stakeholders, which pools the comparative advantage of relevant public and non-governmental actors to address bottlenecks, and develop or scale up innovative development solutions.

(e) Building political momentum for effective development co-operation

9. Producing the behaviour change needed to make development co-operation more effective depends on political leadership informed by sound evidence and policy recommendations. Centring its mission on data and evidence for effective development co-operation will enable the Global Partnership to make a distinct contribution to national, regional and global processes that can build political momentum for change in development co-operation practices. To this end, the Global Partnership shall enhance synergies with the Financing for Development Forum, the High-Level Political Forum on Sustainable Development and the Development Co-operation Forum. The Global Partnership shall contribute to these processes as well as to national and regional dialogue, by generating the country-level data and evidence on development co-operation effectiveness needed to drive behaviour change and steer high-level political commitment for development co-operation policies and practices that are relevant, effective and timely.
10. DELIVERING FOR A NEW TRANSFORMATIVE DEVELOPMENT AGENDA: Collective action through the Global Partnership has driven stakeholders to improve the way development co-operation is delivered, contributing to gains in effectiveness. The 2030 Agenda calls for scaling up efforts to improve the effectiveness of development co-operation; action to mobilise the transformative power of private resources to deliver on sustainable development; and for enhanced exchanges between constituencies engaged in North-South, South-South and Triangular Co-operation to promote knowledge sharing. Carrying out its core functions, the Global Partnership's constituencies must unblock bottlenecks and sustain commitments to implement effectiveness principles at country level. The Global Partnership must do more to shape a meaningful public-private collaboration agenda for effective development co-operation, and intensify its work to facilitate knowledge sharing and learning from diverse modalities of development co-operation. The Global Partnership will address, as follows, these three strategic and interrelated challenges in order to strengthen its contribution to the 2030 Agenda.

(a) Mutual Accountability: Unblocking bottlenecks and sustaining commitments to effective development co-operation

11. Mutual accountability to each other for meeting effectiveness commitments underpins the work of the Global Partnership across all areas of work. Development stakeholders reaffirm the existing effectiveness principles as the accountability framework for measuring progress in improving the effectiveness of their development co-operation. The Global Partnership's constituencies shall commit to unblocking the bottlenecks that hinder progress on the implementation of these principles for effective development co-operation, and to updating the Monitoring Framework to reflect the challenges of the 2030 Agenda, including the pledge to leave no-one behind. Current effectiveness commitments on alignment, predictability, transparency and accountability relate mainly to public partners. The new development paradigm calls for effectiveness commitments that reflect the distinctive contribution of the increasingly diverse actors in development co-operation. The effectiveness of development co-operation shall also be assessed against the ability of stakeholders to learn from different approaches and modalities of development co-operation; promote synergies between the growing diversity in technical and financial options available to developing countries to drive national development strategies; and respond to the capacity-building needs of countries and local governments struggling with new forms of vulnerabilities. Ensuring a better enabling environment for CSOs and local governments and strengthening their engagement remain a core requirement for a people-centred agenda.

12. The way forward: The renewed mandate of the Global Partnership is an opportunity to unblock bottlenecks on existing effectiveness commitments while also embracing the ambitions of the 2030 Agenda and regional strategies for sustainable development. To this end, the Global Partnership shall continue to promote behaviour change for implementation of existing effectiveness commitments and adapt its framework to ensure that it is relevant for dual countries and southern partners. It will develop targets to assess the effectiveness of partnerships between public actors, including local governments, and businesses and philanthropy, working together to take development results to scale. Effectiveness commitments should also guide adapted modalities of development co-operation to advance the universal goal of leaving no-one behind. The country-level monitoring process shall be strengthened to ensure the integrity and relevance of data, ensuring practicality and cost effectiveness.

(b) Shared Benefit: Unleashing the potential of development co-operation to attract inclusive private investment

13. The SDGs call for “urgent action to mobilise the transformative power of private resources to deliver on sustainable development” and to help combat illicit financial flows that deprive the people of the benefits of common resources. They signal the need for the public sector to set a clear direction, monitoring frameworks, regulation and incentive structures to attract private investment that reinforces sustainable development. The Global Partnership is challenged to deepen collaboration with the business sector as part of the effectiveness agenda ensuring checks and balances. The renewed mandate of the Global Partnership provides an opportunity to commit development actors to leverage development co-operation to attract inclusive business investments based on shared benefit. Through development co-operation, governments at central and local levels, bilateral and multilateral partners, philanthropy and civil society can play a catalytic role, helping companies advance innovation and investment that contribute to eradicating poverty and reducing inequality.
14. The way forward: The Global Partnership shall set clear effectiveness commitments as the development community engages in partnerships between governments, civil society and the business sector that generate shared benefit for business strategies and development goals. Accountability and transparency are essential to ensure that these arrangements effectively contribute to economic development and poverty reduction. The Global Partnership shall also promote a mutually-agreed framework to monitor public-private partnerships, helping to deliver real results and combat illicit financial flows. Furthermore, the renewed mandate of the Global Partnership will strive to help development partners adapt their practices and instruments for partnership with the business sector, including through the creation of a caucus of likeminded business and foundation representatives to interact with other interested Global Partnership stakeholders. Such a transformation is also vital for Middle Income Countries that are looking for innovative modalities of development co-operation in their efforts to leave no-one behind.

(c) Mutual Learning: Learning from different approaches to strengthen the effectiveness of development co-operation

15. Drawing smartly together the diversity of options available across stakeholders to mobilise knowledge, technologies and financing can scale up the impact of development co-operation to the level needed to attain the SDGs. Intensified efforts to bring together the learning, knowledge and technology available across constituencies – governments, development partners, business sector, philanthropy, CSOs, academia and local actors – can help scale development solutions at a faster pace. The renewal of the mandate of the Global Partnership is an opportunity to shape new modalities of mutual learning from diverse approaches to development co-operation and development solutions, recognising their unique characteristics and respective merits.

16. The way forward: The Global Partnership needs to build mutual learning from innovative approaches and solutions tried and tested by different stakeholders into its way of working. The Global Partnership shall review its modus operandi to develop a mutual learning loop from country-level evidence, areas of progress, learning from different modalities of development co-operation with specific attention to southern partners and partnership options to strengthen the effectiveness of development co-operation. Key modalities for improved mutual learning will include intensified focus on identifying lessons at central and local levels, through evidence and technical analysis, and disseminating these; and specialised policy dialogues among diverse constituencies to facilitate knowledge exchange and synergies between diverse development constituencies.

GOVERNANCE AND WORKING ARRANGEMENTS

17. The new global development context and the renewed mandate of the Global Partnership call for adjustments to its technical working arrangements and modalities. The following proposed adjustments are intended to ensure the operationalisation of the renewed mandate and the effective implementation of Global Partnership principles and commitments.
18. The proposed adjustments cover two sets of issues:
 - a. the roles and responsibilities of Co-Chairs, the Steering Committee and Joint Support Team, including the proposed addition of a fourth non-executive Co-Chair; and
 - b. changes to the way the Global Partnership operates to realise its vision, including the proposal of a biennial programme of work.

Roles and responsibilities

A. Co-Chairs

19. Since its inception, three governmental Co-Chairs have guided the work of the Global Partnership, both personally and through their representatives. To date, the three Co-Chairs represent: (i) recipients of development co-operation; (ii) recipients and providers of development co-operation; and (iii) providers of development co-operation. Co-Chairs are also members of the Global Partnership Steering Committee, advocating on behalf of their constituencies.
20. Under this proposal, the Co-Chairs will continue to represent the Global Partnership externally, guide its work and be responsible for facilitating the delivery of its overall objectives. However, going forward, the role of Co-Chairs will also include the positioning of the Global Partnership within the Follow-up and Review of the Sustainable Development Goals and AAAA commitments, as well as strengthening the links with the High-Level Political Forum, Financing for Development and Development Co-operation Forum, as well as regional strategies. Additionally, Co-Chairs will focus on guiding Global Partnership operations to strengthen country-level implementation of effective development co-operation principles, as well as strengthening the work done by the members of the Steering Committee and the Joint Support Team to ensure delivery of the agreed programme of work.
21. The main functions of Co-Chairs are to:
 - a. ensure that momentum for implementing agreed effective development co-operation commitments is accelerated at the highest political levels among all stakeholder groups;
 - b. spearhead resource mobilisation efforts to meet the financial and in-kind needs necessary for the full implementation of the programme of work of the Global Partnership;
 - c. lead outreach to the full range of partners in development co-operation, including but not limited to, the business sector and emerging development partners;

- d. represent the Global Partnership in international fora related to development co-operation; and
 - e. apprise the Steering Committee on progress in implementing the costed and agreed programme of work in between official Steering Committee meetings, through biannual updates (between each Committee meeting).
22. Co-Chairs will continue to be appointed for a two-year period. Governmental Co-Chairs are appointed at Ministerial or Vice-Ministerial level and will represent the full spectrum of development co-operation, ensuring adequate regional rotation and balance. Co-Chairs should engage with constituencies in securing a successor, to be endorsed by the Steering Committee through an inclusive and transparent process, as early as possible, but no later than one month before the end of their term. Current Co-Chairs will also be responsible for overseeing the transition to the new Co-Chair over the last six months of his / her term, as applicable.

A non-executive Co-Chair in the Leadership of the Global Partnership

(While the Steering Committee has in principle signaled its openness to considering the addition of a fourth, non-executive Co-Chair, a proposal for the modalities and functions of this seat should be presented by the non-executive members of the Steering Committee at the Committee's first meeting post-HLM2 for further consideration.)

Non-executive representatives in the Steering Committee have suggested that a fourth, non-executive Co-Chair could amplify the true multi-stakeholder nature of the Global Partnership. Potential advantages of a fourth, non-executive Co-Chair may include: (i) making the leadership more inclusive and multi-stakeholder; (ii) fostering mutual accountability at the highest decision-making levels; (iii) bringing in additional expertise on improving engagement with non-state development actors; (iv) promoting democratic ownership by example; and (v) allowing inputs from non-executive stakeholders to shape the agenda of Steering Committee, High-Level and other Meetings of the Global Partnership from a very early stage.

A non-executive Co-Chair would be nominated at the highest possible level (comparable seniority with the government Co-Chairs) and on a rotational basis, mindful of regional balance, from the following constituencies: civil society organisations, trade unions, local governments, parliaments, philanthropy and the business sector, according to consultation among non-executive members of the Steering Committee. The non-executive Co-Chair would represent all these constituencies, striving to build consensus among them as far as possible. These constituencies will all retain their seats as members of the Steering Committee. Rotation would be expected to take place every two years, at the same time as governmental Co-Chairs, and in consideration of the heterogeneity of the non-executive stakeholder group.

B. Steering Committee

23. The Steering Committee is the main decision-making body of the Global Partnership. It provides the strategic leadership and co-ordination necessary for ensuring successful implementation of the programme of work for the Global Partnership. Decision making in the Steering Committee shall strive to be consensus-based through inclusive dialogue and transparent process.
24. The Steering Committee will consist of the Co-Chairs of the Global Partnership and other appointed members.
25. The Steering Committee will focus on the following core responsibilities:
- a. providing executive guidance to the implementation and monitoring of a costed programme of work for the Global Partnership;
 - b. championing / co-championing the specific work-streams in the programme of work of the Global Partnership and / or Global Partnership Initiatives to help deliver the programme of work;

- c. serving as advocates and ambassadors of the Global Partnership at national, regional and international levels to ensure that the priorities and key messages of the Global Partnership are promoted and reflected in relevant fora;
- d. increasing focus on implementing development effectiveness commitments at the country level;
- e. consulting with, and therefore providing inclusive and authoritative representation of, constituencies with a stake in the work of the Global Partnership; and
- f. undertaking other tasks as may arise from High-Level Meetings or as agreed at Steering Committee meetings.

26. Members of the Steering Committee will be nominated by their respective constituencies for review and endorsement at Steering Committee meetings in order to ensure regional balance and continuity as a whole. The Steering Committee will represent all actors with a stake in development, wishing to engage in the work of the Global Partnership. A matrix to ensure representation throughout all regions will be annexed to the programme of work for the 2017-2018 period.

Joint Support Team

27. The ambitions of the Global Partnership set out in the Nairobi Outcome Document and mandate require a strong support structure in the form of the Joint Support Team, which will continue to be sourced by the OECD and UNDP. Both organisations will continue to draw on their existing structures, respective mandates and areas of comparative advantage to work together in an efficient and complementary manner. Their support to the Global Partnership is contingent upon continued and adequate funding being made available to both organisations from stakeholders invested in the Global Partnership.
28. Members of the Global Partnership and its Steering Committee will be expected to lead in the implementation of commitments as well as contributing to the substance of the Global Partnership's work. The main responsibilities of the Joint Support Team build on the deliverables agreed in the 2012 Global Partnership mandate:
 - a. develop, refine and implement the global methodology for monitoring the implementation of agreed commitments for endorsement by the Steering Committee;
 - b. produce and disseminate relevant analytical work, including regular global reports based on monitoring of agreed commitments and scoping of analytical work produced by the Global Partnership Initiatives to inform political dialogue and facilitate knowledge sharing to make co-operation more effective at country level;
 - c. carry out periodical 'horizon-scanning' analyses of the evolving development co-operation context and the incentives for engagement by each Global Partnership stakeholder;
 - d. provide demand-driven advisory support at country level on the implementation of partnership and accountability frameworks in developing countries (contingent on adequate resourcing and prioritisation by the Steering Committee in the costed programme of work);
 - e. organise ministerial-level and other meetings of the Global Partnership; and
 - f. deliver Secretariat and Advisory Services to the Steering Committee and Co-Chairs.
29. Each biennial programme of work will specify more detailed roles for the Joint Support Team based on operational objectives (see below).

Operational changes

Meetings

30. The renewed mandate calls for greater support to making development co-operation more effective at country level and targeted policy dialogue, data and evidence for global follow-up and review of the 2030 Agenda at the United Nations.
31. The Global Partnership's High-Level Meetings will continue to provide an instrumental platform to uphold accountability and generate new momentum to implement commitments. Under the guidance of the Steering Committee, stand-alone High-Level Meetings will be held in an extended cycle adapted to the calendar of global level conferences and meetings in order to solidify political support for effective development co-operation, as a prerequisite for sustainable progress in the implementation of the 2030 Agenda and broader sustainable development agendas. The stand-alone High-Level Meetings will be interspersed with high-level segments, to take place in the margins of relevant meetings on development finance and co-operation. Senior-Level Meetings at the Director-General level will also be considered to keep political momentum high in between stand-alone High-Level Meetings.
32. Steering Committee meetings will be held twice a year, if possible back-to-back with other meetings, and will focus on the implementation of the agreed programme of work. These meetings will be informed by annual technical exchanges and by specialised policy dialogues that will help to identify practical solutions to accelerating progress on specific bottlenecks among communities of interest, co-ordinated with the work of Global Partnership Initiatives and their workshops, regional platforms and dialogues to engage actors with similar interests and objectives to build consensus and strengthen advocacy around their priorities for effective development co-operation.

33. In addition, national multi-stakeholder dialogues on development effectiveness and regional meetings will be promoted through the Co-Chairs, Steering Committee members and wider Global Partnership membership, which will aim to translate deliberations into action at country level.

Programme of work

34. The work by the Co-Chairs, Steering Committee and Joint Support Team will be guided by a biennial, costed programme of work. The programme of work should be underpinned by a comprehensive theory of change and will be the main instrument to ensure clear targets and responsibilities for the implementation of all aspects of the work of the Global Partnership in any two-year period. It will contain costed lines of activity and will be approved by the Steering Committee. It will also include the critical threshold of resources that need to be secured / guaranteed for the Joint Support Team to enable its core support. It is proposed that logistical and operational support relating to Steering Committee meetings and High-Level Meetings be included in the biennial programme of work, if available from the identified HLM host, and provided through voluntary contributions specific to these activities to ensure their financing alongside substantive work and deliverables. Resource mobilisation for High-Level Meetings will be driven and strongly encouraged by Steering Committee members.
35. The Steering Committee will agree on the process and content of the work programme.
36. The responsibility for ensuring progress within specific areas of the costed programme of work will be delegated to working groups led by Steering Committee members. Each of these components are subject to periodic review in order to ensure their continued relevance to the work of the Global Partnership as a whole. The Steering Committee may request the engagement of specialised advisory bodies to support the accomplishment of the programme of work, insofar as resources allow.
37. The Co-Chairs and Steering Committee members share the responsibility for mobilising resources to meet any funding shortfall and prioritising the programme of work in line with available funding. The programme of work will also contain an explicit provision for periodic independent evaluations of the work of the Global Partnership to be conducted at determined times, e.g. every four years.
